Brian Scudamore was born in San Francisco in 1970. In 1978, his family moved to Vancouver. Brian's father was a doctor, but Brian wasn't a good student. He didn't finish high school, but he wanted to go to college. He talked to professors at a business college, and he convinced them he belonged in college. So Brian enrolled in college.

But college was expensive and Brian needed money for college. One day he was at a McDonald's. An old truck with a sign, "Junk Removal," passed by. Brian realized he could make money from junk. So, he decided to start his own junk removal business. He used his savings of $700 for a truck. He removed junk from people's homes. He worked hard and his business expanded.

Brian wanted an unusual name for his business. He liked the name 1-800-GOT-JUNK?, but there was a problem. The name belonged to the Department of Transportation of Idaho. That didn't stop Brian. Brian convinced the Department of Transportation of Idaho to give him the name.

Brian was busy with his business, so he never graduated from college. But that wasn't a problem for him. Today, he is a very successful businessman, and he has businesses all over the world.

Lupita Nyong'o is a Mexican-Kenyan actress, film director, and fashion star. She became famous after she acted in the movie Twelve Years a Slave. She played Patsey, a slave girl in the American South. Her acting was very good, and she inspired many people.

In her movies, Lupita often plays strong and helpful characters. In 2015, she was Maz Kanata in Star Wars: The Force Awakens. In 2016, she did the voice of a character, a mother wolf, in The Jungle Book. The wolf takes care of a human boy. Also in 2016, she played Phiona Mutesi's mother in Queen of Katwe. This is a true story about a poor young Ugandan woman. She didn't have enough to eat, but she became very good at the game of chess.

Lupita is much more than a movie star. She also helps and protects animals. People kill many animals in Africa. Recently Lupita visited elephants in Kenya. She said it was a wonderful experience, but she was sad when she saw many baby elephants with no mothers. Lupita wants everyone to help her save elephants and other animals.

Lupita also helps girls and women around the world. When poor women have babies, it can be dangerous for them. Recently, Lupita joined Mother Health International. This organization helps poor mothers and their children in Africa.

READINGPART 8*Read the article. Then choose the correct answers.

Sports are an important part of most cultures. That is not going to change in the future. But many changes are going to happen in the sports world in the next twenty or thirty years.

Today, soccer ("football" outside North America) is the number one sport in the world. It's safer than many other sports. Almost anyone can play it. In the future, soccer is probably going to be even more popular than it is now. More and more people in North America are going to attend soccer games. More and more children are going to play it.

The game of soccer is probably not going to change much, but American football is. It has a big problem: concussions. Concussions are injuries to the head and brain. They can be very dangerous to players. Officials want to protect players, so they are going to change the game in some ways.

Other sports, like baseball and basketball, are probably going to change, too. Athletes are going to be stronger. Doctors are going to change their bodies. They aren't going to have many injuries. There are also going to be new kinds of athletes. Players of video and computer games are going to become famous athletes. People are going to pay to see them.

Finally, sports fans are going to see a lot of improvements. Stadiums are going to change their shape for different sporting events. It's going to be easy to attend games with self-parking cars. At games, fans are going to watch their own videos with their favorite players.

One thing is sure: sports in the future are going to be different from the sports we watch and play today.

1 The writer of this article thinks that _____ is going to be the same in the future.

- A soccer
- B basketball
- C American football

2 The writer thinks baseball players _____.

- A get a lot of injuries now
- B are the strongest athletes
- C are going to have stronger bodies

3 For the author, what is going to be different about the future of sports?

- A People are not going to see sports in stadiums anymore.
- B Sports are going to be a less important part of culture.
- C People are going to pay to watch video game players.
