

UNIT 3 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

Daniel: Hey, Sarah.

Sarah: Hi, Daniel. So, how's your new job?

Daniel: Well, I only started last week. I think it's OK. But my first morning was terrible!

Sarah: Oh, yeah? Why?

Daniel: Well, when I arrived at the office I was really nervous. Then the boss said I have to give a speech and introduce myself to all my new co-workers!

Sarah: Oh, how many people were there?

Daniel: About twenty. My speech was really bad. I tried to make some jokes, but they weren't funny. So no one laughed.

Sarah: Ouch, sounds awful.

Daniel: Yeah it was. Anyway, later on it was better. My new boss took me to that new Chinese restaurant for lunch.

Sarah: The one on Main Street? How was it?

Daniel: Great. It was a buffet with all kinds of Chinese food. I was so nervous in the morning I didn't eat breakfast, so I ate a lot there.

Sarah: I heard it's really popular. Was it crowded? Was it expensive?

Daniel: Actually, it wasn't busy at all. We were the only ones there. Maybe because it was Monday. And I don't know about the price. My boss paid the bill.

Sarah: Nice. My boss never buys me lunch, maybe I should join your company, too!
