READINGPART 3*Read the story. Then answer the questions.

Solomon was a wise king. He lived about 3,000 years ago. One day, two women went to King Solomon in his castle. The first woman carried a baby. The second woman said, "We live nearby and had our babies three days apart. Her baby died in the night, and she came to my house and took my baby. That baby is really mine."

The first woman said, "No! That woman is lying. This is my baby."

The two women continued arguing until King Solomon shouted, "Stop!"

He then turned to his guard and said, "Take your sword and divide the baby in two. Give one part to this woman and the other to that one."

The guard pulled out his sword. As he was about to harm the baby, the second woman screamed, "No! Don't do it. Give her the baby. Just don't kill the baby."

King Solomon then said, "Now I know the real mother. Give the baby to the woman who has just spoken."
