READING

PART 4

Read the conversation. Then answer the questions.

The First Day of Class

Professor: Welcome to World Literature Class. I'm Professor Raymond. For the next 15 weeks, we will read five novels by authors from around the world. There will be short quizzes on the readings every three weeks. That's five quizzes total. They will be easy if you do the reading.

There is also a paper where you will write about one of the books in detail. You must choose a book from class. The papers must be at least ten pages. In addition, there will be a final exam... Now, are there any questions? ... Yes?

Jonathan: When is the paper due?

Professor: You have to turn it in by December 1st. You should hand in an outline by November 15th. And I'll return the paper with a grade on December 15th. That's the last day of class. The final exam is that day, too. Other questions? ... Yes?

Olivia: Do we have to buy a textbook for this class?

Professor: No. We will use a few pages from my textbook. I wrote it. I will give you parts of the textbook as you need it. You have to buy the novels we are reading, and that's it. If you can't buy them all, you can try the library.

- 1 How often does the class have quizzes?
 - A every 3 weeks
 - B every 5 weeks
 - C every 15 weeks

- 2 When is the paper due?
