

UNIT 18 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

A group of rabbits lived in the country, not too far from a lake. They lived in constant fear of the bigger animals in the area. Whenever they saw even a single larger animal come near them, the rabbits would run away. On one particular day, a group of large horses came running towards the rabbits' homes. The rabbits, in their constant fear, decided that they'd had enough. They decided to jump into the lake to kill themselves so that they did not have to live in fear all their lives. The rabbits rushed to the lake, and as they approached the lake they saw a family of small frogs jumping off into the lake, escaping the fear that the larger rabbits brought with them. One rabbit said to the others, "Our lives are not as bad as they seem." The rabbits turned around, and went back to their rabbit homes.