

UNIT 19 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

Chantelle: Moving is hard. Finding a good place is really difficult. There are so many apartments that are available in New York, but I'm not sure where we should look. I'm getting lost in all the ads on this website.

Pietro: Read me a few listings.

Chantelle: OK. This first one says "Cozy apartment in a very quiet neighborhood." Do we want cozy and quiet?

Pietro: I don't think so. We are moving to New York so that we can enjoy the exciting nightlife, go to amazing restaurants, see modern art... We want to be in the middle of the excitement, right?

Chantelle: I completely agree. OK, let's check out this place: "Modern one-bedroom apartment in a 'fun' and 'stylish' neighborhood." That sounds interesting.

Pietro: Ok, read more.

Chantelle: "A short walk from the subway, this spacious apartment is beautifully furnished, and available right now. Only (said with surprise; to be read as seventy-five hundred) $7,500 a month!?!?!"

Pietro: Twenty-five hundred dollars a month isn't bad.

Chantelle: I said seventy-five hundred dollars.

Pietro: What?!? That's awfully expensive. NEXT!

Chantelle: OK, here's one that might be good: "Cozy and charming one-bedroom with a convenient location. Located in an area of town known for its great restaurants and nightlife, this apartment is perfect for people who like to get out and enjoy the town."

Pietro: Sounds good. Keep reading.

Chantelle: "High ceilings, big bathroom, and an affordable price for the city." What do you think?

Pietro: Let's find out what "affordable" means. Do they have a number?
