

UNIT 1 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

- Julio: Hey Jaime! I haven't seen you in a long time. What's new?
- Jaime: Hey Julio. I'm doing well. I've been really busy because I'm getting ready to travel to Mexico. How about you?
- Julio: What? You're planning to go to Mexico. That's awesome!
- Jaime: Yea, I'm a little nervous about it. It's my first time to leave the U.S. And Mexicans speak Spanish, so I'm studying Spanish really hard—I'm taking classes three nights a week after work.
- Julio: Oh cool. How's your Spanish?
- Jaime: It's not very good. I understand my teacher when he speaks, but when I talk to other people, they speak so fast. I don't understand them well. Do you speak Spanish?
- Julio: Of course I do! Remember, I grew up in Argentina, and I speak Spanish with my family here in the U.S. Actually, one of my friends from Argentina is traveling in the U.S. right now, and he wants to improve his English. Maybe you and he can meet and practice speaking to each other? I think it's a good way for both of you to learn. What do you think?
- Jaime: That sounds like a good plan! When can I meet him?
- Julio: Well, this week he's visiting his cousin in another city, so maybe you can meet him this weekend?
- Jaime: That's great. I don't work on weekends, so I'll be free to see him then.
- Julio: Ok, I'm texting him now and will let you know what he thinks.
- Jaime: Awesome! Thanks Julio.
