READINGPART 3*Read the article. Then choose the correct answers.

People mostly use their smartphones to “have fun” according to a recent report from the American Sales Association (ASA).

The report says that a little more than 50 percent of people’s time is spent playing games, watching funny videos, and even online window shopping.

“It’s not all that surprising,” says Ken Petersen, co-author of the report. “Data and Wi-Fi are now cheaper and easier for people to find, and people love to find fun ways to have fun.”

In addition to entertainment, those surveyed spend about 25 percent of their time using social media, like Facebook. People use these apps to share news, links, and all sorts of information. People also reported that they spend about 15 percent of their time shopping on their phones. Perhaps most surprising is that people only spend two percent of their time to find information, according to the study.

The report is based on a survey by the ASA of over 2,000 smartphone owners. The report did not consider time spent to send texts or make calls.

1 Which sentence best describes the article?

- A It gives information on the ways people have fun on their smartphones.
- B It gives information on how people spend their time on their smartphones.
- C It gives information on how many people use smartphones.

SPEAKING

PART 5

Read the statement below. Then respond by giving your opinion and using personal experience if necessary. Be sure to use infinitives and in order to in your response.

People use different electronic devices for different reasons. But, in general, I think people use their smartphones for entertainment like playing games and watching videos. People usually do their shopping and work on computers and laptops. What do you think? Do you agree or disagree? How do you use your smartphone?

WRITING

PART 6

There are many different devices that people can use to communicate and access the Internet. Companies are creating all sorts of “smart” devices that allow people to access the Internet quickly and easily. Which devices do you use? How do you use these devices and what do you use them for? Do you think all the different “smart” devices are necessary? Why or why not? Write a paragraph explaining your opinion.
