

UNIT 14 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

- Grace: Andy, you really must join Snapit! You're my only friend who doesn't use it.
- Andy: Isn't Snapit just for teenagers? We're too old for that, Grace!
- Grace: No, lots of people in their 30s are on it. You should try it. It's a great way to privately share information.
- Andy: I don't know. I don't have time these days—there are too many other things that I've got to do.
- Grace: Like what?
- Andy: Well, like work, taking care of my kids, coaching soccer... you know, stuff that you probably do!
- Grace: Yeah, I do those things, too, and you know what? Snapit has been a fun way for me to keep friends posted about what I'm doing.
- Andy: How does it work, exactly?
- Grace: First, you invite people you know to be able to exchange messages. The messages can just be text, or photos and short videos. You can decorate the photos with special effects and filters ... it's a lot of fun and so easy to use.
- Andy: Couldn't it be dangerous to share photos, especially of our kids?
- Grace: It might be, but you're only sharing things with people you know. Obviously, you shouldn't accept an invitation to share messages with someone you don't know. And, the messages you share get deleted automatically after a few seconds.
- Andy: Wouldn't some people find ways to save the messages?
- Grace: I suppose there are some people who might do that, but most users just like to see their friends' update once. I was skeptical, too, about the app when my friend told me about it, but you really ought to give it some thought. It doesn't have to be for teenagers only.
- Andy: I guess it could be an easy way to keep in touch and stay connected with friends. Do you have some time now to help me install the app on my phone?

Grace: Absolutely! I can show you how to be a Snapit expert in under five minutes—it's easy!
