PART 2

Choose the correct answers to complete the paragraph.

Sharon Jansen, (1) whose / who's / that's always loved traveling, has just returned from Asia. She was away for over two years and while she was gone she wrote a memoir of her travels. The book, (2) which / that / whom already has been accepted by a publisher, is about the different people she met on the journeys. She told me the people (3) which / whom / who led the simplest lives were always the most joyful. She has become convinced that people (4) whose / whom / which lives are uncomplicated, are more content. The book, (5) that / who / which compares aspects of their daily routines with ours in the western world, is really compelling. It opens us up to ways of living that we know very little about. Sharon has always inspired me, but now I also believe she is a person (6) whom / whose / that writing could influence a lot of people. She asks the question of what is really important in our short lives on Earth, and whether our constant struggle to succeed in the western world is the path to happiness, or even satisfaction.

READINGPART 3*Read the article. Then choose the correct answers.

In our society there are many reasons why people feel isolated as they get older. One of the hardest things about old age is the problem of loneliness, as spouses and friends die, and families move away. Often after retirement, which in itself is difficult, people decide to relocate; leaving behind colleagues, friends, and neighbors who they have known for years. Illness is another reason that people find themselves alone; the loss of health can lead to difficulty maintaining relationships. These and other reasons have led to more and more elderly people being moved or choosing to move into retirement homes—places that can provide assistance, community, and friendship. Nurse Murphy, who is excited about her work at a retirement residence, says this:

“We offer elderly people, who are often pessimistic about their future, an opportunity to start again. Retirement homes used to have a very bad reputation, but that has definitely changed in recent years. We see a lot of people arriving here that are clinically depressed, due to loneliness or feelings of worthlessness. But once our clients start getting involved in what we have to offer, the changes are quite remarkable. They begin to enjoy themselves, which in turn leads to friendship, companionship, and believe it or not sometimes even marriage! Marlene Jetson, who’s a very innovative thinker, founded this center ten years ago. She wanted to create an environment that could harness the enormous experience and talent our clients bring with them. She decided to have them help to run the residence. This idea benefits her business, and at the same time gives the residents a sense of purpose. It’s been very successful.”
