

UNIT 3 REVIEW TEST LISTENING SCRIPT

- Angela: Hey there, Stefan. I heard you just booked a flight to Australia for the holiday. You excited?
- Stefan: Of course! I'm thrilled that I finally decided to book this trip. I mean, I have not left the United States once, and when I get back, I'll have visited two different continents.
- Angela: Two continents? Where else are you going?
- Stefan: I'm also going to spend some time in Japan.
- Angela: Let me guess: You booked the flight too late and the ticket was too expensive, so you'll have to have a layover in Tokyo in order to get to Australia.
- Stefan: Not exactly. I did book late, but that didn't seem to have an effect on the price of the ticket. I was going to fly direct, but then I remembered that a friend from high school was living in Tokyo, so I figured I'd spend a few days in Japan on my way there. My friend said I could stay with him. Have you ever been?
- Angela: Yep, but it was when I was pretty young, so I don't remember it much. I do love Japanese food, so you'll have to eat a lot and then tell me what you think of it.
- Stefan: Of course. I'm gonna eat a ton of okonomiyaki, and try to eat some good seafood.
- Angela: Jealous. And what about Australia? Have you planned everything yet?
- Stefan: Not really. My aunt in Sydney is going to meet me when I get there. I'll spend the first couple of days with her checking out the city, then I'd like to travel up the coast to Cairns, and I'll probably spend some time in Brisbane on the way. After that, I'm not sure how I'll spend the rest of my three weeks.
- Angela: I'm sure you'll find something to keep yourself busy. Where do you plan to stay?
- Stefan: With my aunt.
- Angela: Well, what about outside of Sydney.
- Stefan: Not sure. I'll be making the plans as I'm on the road, so I'll have to wait and see.
- Angela: I've always wanted to go to Australia. Sounds like it'll be an adventure.

Stefan: Yes, it will. (pause) I got a question for you since you've traveled overseas a lot. What should I do to overcome the jetlag? By the time I get to Tokyo, I'll have been sitting on a plane for over ten hours, and I really don't know what to expect.

Angela: What time will you arrive in Tokyo?

Stefan: In the morning.

Angela: Well, you won't want to go to sleep then. Make your best effort to sleep on the plane, and when you get there, be sure not to nap. Instead, stay up until a normal bedtime, and then go to sleep. You'll have a better chance of adjusting to the time change quickly that way.

Stefan: Awesome. Hopefully I'll be sleeping on planes for the entire trip. I don't want to miss a thing once I'm overseas.
