

NAME _____ DATE _____

REVIEW TEST: UNIT 3GRAMMAR*PART 1*Choose the correct answer to complete the sentence.

- 1 We are going to China next week. At this time next Wednesday, we _____ touring the Forbidden City! I'm so excited!
A are
B will be
C will have been
- 2 When Jan _____ to work, he should be able to fix the printer.
A gets
B will get
C will have got
- 3 The pilot just announced that the flight _____ later than expected because of the bad weather in Bangkok.
A lands
B is landing
C will be landing
- 4 Marc plans to tour the city all day tomorrow. So, by the time we see him tomorrow night, he will _____ all the sights, and we won't have to take him to any this weekend!
A see
B be seeing
C have seen
- 5 David _____ across the United States this summer.
A probably backpacks
B is probably going to backpack
C will probably have backpacked

NAME _____ DATE _____

6 Shari plans to finish the report before she goes to bed tonight. By tomorrow morning, she _____ it.

- A finishes
- B has finished
- C will have finished

7 Huma thinks she _____ able to keep her eyes open during her flight.

- A isn't
- B wasn't
- C won't be

PART 2

Choose the correct answers to complete the email.

Dear Rob,

I have some big news! I told you before that I (1) go / am going / will have gone on a vacation, right? Well, (2) you'll / you're / you're going to never believe it, but guess who is going to Brazil in February for Carnival? ME! By then, (3) I'll be / I've been / I'll have been working for almost three years without a vacation. (4) I'll have read / I'm going to read / I've been reading about Carnival and Rio on the Internet, and it sounds amazing! I'm going to stay there for a week in a hotel by the ocean, and I'm going to be visiting all the sights! I'm wondering if you want to come with me. I'm going to buy my tickets tomorrow. If you want to come, (5) I'll tell / I'm telling / I'll have told my travel agent to book for two.

Let me know,

Chris

NAME _____ DATE _____

READINGPART 3*Read the email. Then choose the correct answers.

Dear Paul,

It's been a very long time since I last reached out to you and I have some rather good news to share. But first, how are you and your family? I know you are still teaching at the University in Brisbane, and I've read some of your most recent publications—I've got my criticisms, but that's something to discuss in the future. And your family, has Emily been well? Do you still have your arguments over the nature and origins of human communication? Those were wonderful conversations we used to have back in graduate school. And your son, Sam—he must just be starting elementary school. It's been too long.

As for me, it's work, work, work. And I know you love hearing about it, so here's what I've been up to: I'm about to finish up the spring semester and will be heading off to Australia to do an anthropological study on the communication practices of some native peoples in the Northern Territory. I've become familiar with the Gunwinyguan languages, and I'm incredibly fascinated with the region's linguistic and cultural diversity, especially in how their narrative practices treat time and space in storytelling. If current trends continue, however, the language will be extinct in a generation's time. My plan is to further document the cultural practices there with the hopes of contributing whatever I can to the preservation of a nearly extinct language family.

I'll be living in Arnhem Land of the Northern Territory for six months or so, and I hope that I'll have collected enough preliminary data in that time so that I can return to my university here in Boston and give a report on my findings. I've spent a great deal of time over the past two years getting my research proposal ready and preparing for the trip. Should the preliminary research convince the department to fund a second trip—and I will do my best to convince them—I'll likely do a second, longer study in a couple of years.

While I'm not too concerned about the weather conditions in the Northern Territory, I know there will be some extremely high temperatures, and that could make the experience a bit challenging. But I am looking forward to the change in climate, as the winter and early spring have been really cold here in Montreal. I'm sure that by the time I'm ready to leave Australia, I'll have had enough of the 35-degree temperatures and the tropical climate.

I leave in about a month's time, flying to Sydney through Hong Kong. I'm going to give myself two weeks to get adjusted to the time difference, and spend some time catching up with my Australian colleagues. I'll be in Brisbane for part of that time, and would love if we could arrange a time to meet, if even just to catch up over dinner or lunch. I'd love to see Emily and Sam as well. Let me know what you think.

All the best,

Geoffrey

1 Which statement best describes Geoffrey's attitude in his email to Paul?

- A He is excited to confirm his arrangements to meet Paul.
- B He is nervous about the prospect of living in the Northern Territory.
- C He is regretful that he has not kept in better touch with Paul.

2 After six months of research, Geoffrey thinks that he _____.

- A will have time to meet Paul
- B will have the data that he needs
- C will be sick of living in Australia

NAME _____ DATE _____

3 Which statement best describes Geoffrey's expectations of the trip?

- A He thinks that the weather will cause him serious problems while doing his research.
- B He thinks that the research from this trip will allow him to do a second study in the future.
- C He thinks that it will be impossible to prevent the extinction of Gunwinyguan languages.

LISTENING

PART 4

Listen to the conversation between Angela and Stefan. Then choose the correct answers.

1 Which of the following is NOT mentioned in the conversation?

- A what Stefan will eat in Australia
- B how Stefan will travel to Australia
- C where Stefan will stay in Australia

2 Which place will Stefan likely travel to last?

- A Tokyo
- B Brisbane
- C Cairns

3 Why is Stefan traveling to Japan?

- A He couldn't get a direct flight.
- B A direct flight is too expensive.
- C He wants to visit a friend there.

4 After Stefan returns from his trip, both he and Angela will have been to _____.

- A Japan
- B Australia
- C Japan and Australia

5 According to Angela, when is the best time to sleep in order to avoid jetlag?

- A when on the plane
- B when you arrive at your destination
- C whenever you have time during your trip

NAME _____ DATE _____

SPEAKING

PART 5

What are your goals for the next year? What do they involve: travel, study, work, something else? By this time next year, what will you have accomplished, and what will you be doing? Consider the following in your response:

- At least two goals for the next year
- Why you want to achieve these goals
- How you plan to achieve your goals
- How your life will improve after achieving these goals

Be sure to use future time verb constructions in your response.

WRITING

PART 6

What will transportation in the year 2100 look like? Will we still be driving cars? Will planes (or something else?) be taking us across the world in half the time? Will there be commercial space travel? Write two or three paragraphs discussing what you think the future of travel will look like. Be sure to use future time verb constructions in your response.

NAME _____ DATE _____

Focus on Grammar 5e | Level 5 | Review Test| Unit 3

© 2017 by Pearson Education, Inc. Permission granted to reproduce for classroom use.