(Page 4) Mary and her classmates are in the art class. Mary is sitting at her desk. She is not drawing and she is not happy. She cannot draw very well. "It's too hard," she says. She just scribbles on her paper. Then she crumples it up into paper balls. All the other students are busy drawing pictures.
(Page 6) David is sitting behind Mary. He is drawing a race car. David is Mary's friend. He always sits behind her in art class. He can see that Mary is not happy. He loves art class. He can draw very well. He wants to help Mary.
(Page 8) David moves his chair next to Mary's. He wants her to get a good grade for art. David is sitting next to Mary. He picks up a pencil. "I can help you," says David. "Drawing is easy. I draw shapes to help me." David starts to draw on the paper.
(Page 10) David has a pencil in his hand. He is drawing a picture. "Look," says David. "You can draw a house using triangles and squares." Mary watches the shapes. The house is a square, the roof is a triangle, and the windows are squares, too. It's easy to draw with shapes.
(Page 12) Mary is feeling better now. She points to a picture on the wall. "Can you draw animals with shapes?" asks Mary. "Yes, I can," says David. David can draw lots of animals. He uses the shapes to help him. What animal do you think he is going to draw?
(Page 14) David is very good at art. He can draw different animals with different shapes. David shows Mary how to draw a dog. "You can use circles, triangles, and ovals," he says. Look at David's drawing. How many circles and triangles can you see?
(Page 16) Now David shows Mary how to draw a farmer. "You can use rectangles and diamonds," he says. He draws a farmer with a bucket and spade. Can you see the rectangles and the diamonds in the drawing? How many can you see?
(Page 18) "Now it's your turn. Try and draw a cat," says David. "You can use ovals and triangles." Mary picks up her pencil. She draws some shapes. She draws a cat with a happy face. Mary is smiling. Can you draw a cat with ovals and triangles?
(Page 20) Now Mary can draw all on her own. She is very happy. She draws a picture of a beautiful farm. On Mary's farm, there are cows and horses. What other animals can you see on her farm?
(Page 22) Mary gets a good grade for art today. She is a very happy girl. She wants to tell her mother and father about her drawing. Mary likes art now, and she loves art class on Tuesday mornings. David is her favorite friend. Do you like art class?
