Last year I created a language learning app called SONGUAGE. If there's one thing I ¹ have learned, it's that ² starting your own company is extremely stressful. However, I was confident my idea ³ will be successful. Basically, it's an app that automatically translates songs. After ⁴ getting the bank to lend me some money, I was ready to go. I ⁵ had a friend help me with the technical side because I didn't know anything about coding. Unfortunately, early on, we ⁶ damaged all our computers ⁷ and in a flood and we needed ⁸ to get them all replaced. However, after this setback and several months of development we finally ⁹ got 2,000 people ¹⁰ to test the finished app and feedback was great. We're launching SONGUAGE next week!
